MONTEZUMA BALL WILL BE BEST EVER GIVEN IN ITS HISTORY

It Will be Japanese in Appointment and Beautiful Pagoda Has Been Erected at the Alvarado Hotel For the Occasion—Elegant Decorations and Brilliant Light Effects Are Features of the Scene—Committees Have Arranged Everything For Hundreds of Guests Who Will Attend Friday Evening—Governor Curry and Mrs. J. A. Weinmann Will Lead the Grand March at 9:30 p. m.—Refreshments Will Be Served by Pretty Waitresses in Japanese Costumes. During the Evening.

The Montezuma ball will occur at the Alvarado on Friday evening. All preparations for it have been made, and the prospect is that it will be the best of the many Montezuma balls that society has attended at past territorial fairs.

The much talked of pagoda is completed, and it is a feast for the eye. Those who have seen pictures of the real thing will be surprised at the likeness of the one in the little court at the Alvarado to these pictures. It is almost as high as the hotel. It is square, with queer overhanging porches on all four sides. There are three of these porches on each side, and above each is a gorgeous hued dragon head, and plants and palms. The colors are red and green. Little square windows are on each side between the stories. Colored lights in ropes and clusters light the pagoda from top to bottom and from its height to the hotel veranda on every side. Immense Japanese lanterns hang from the points of the queer porches. The construction of this pagoda is a work of art and the planning of it was most ingenious.

The west veranda of the hotel has been enclosed with heavy canvas, to shield the guests from the night air. In this enclosure will be served the banquet. The spread will be unusual, and will be served by pretty maids in Japanese gowns. The viands may have Japanese names in Japanese characters, but that will make little difference. The spread will be table d'hotel.

A Word to Guests.
The grand march will begin at 9:30 o'clock and will be led by Mrs. J. A. Weinmann, wife of the president of the fair association, and George Curry, governor of New Mexico. The dance program will contain sixteen numbers, to which will be added several extras. Guests will not arrive before 9 o'clock, and will enter the west parlors of the hotel from the west veranda. Footmen will attend the guests at the veranda. Members of the reception committee will receive the guests in the parlors and escort them to the second floor to the waiting rooms. Maids will be in waiting to attend the ladies. Carriages may be ordered for 2 o'clock a. m.

WATCHMAN SAVES VAST AMOUNTS FROM ROBBERS

Though Beaten He Refused to Give up His Keys to Bandits.

New York, Oct. 10.—Richard F. Gray, a watchman in the lofty Century building at 74 Broadway, is in the hospital suffering from wounds received in a desperate single handed fight against two robbers, who attacked him while he was making his rounds on the nineteenth floor after midnight. Although to years old, Gray made a determined fight, almost unconscious. Even then he refused to reveal the hiding place of the keys to hundreds of offices in the great building. The robbers, who were armed with pistols, made a systematic search for the missing keys. Apparently they were unsuccessful for when Gray revived and staggered down the nineteen flights of stairs, the robbers had disappeared. Gray gave a brief description of his assailants and the police believe they will be captured.

"If those men had gotten the keys from the watchman," said a detective, "they would have done a job that would have made the famous Manhattan bank robbery look like a cheap affair. They were after one safe in that building, the securities in which are worth untold thousands."

FUNERAL DIRECTORS FEASTED LAST NIGHT

The Funeral Directors' Association of New Mexico concluded its session last night with an enjoyable banquet at Zeigler's Cafe, with a number of the funeral directors and their friends present.

The toasts were as follows: "The Relations of a Minister to an Undertaker," by Rev. Wilson J. Marsh of the Congregational church. "The Professional Embalmer," by Prof. H. S. Eckles. "The Relations of the Undertaker to the Undertaker," by Mr. Moore of Denver. "Our Governor," by J. A. Mahoney of Deming. "The Ladies," by L. F. Monteleone of Santa Fe, and "The New Mexico Funeral Directors' Association," by F. H. Strong of this city. It was after midnight when the gathering ended.

Lustiana Breaking Record.
Newport R. L. Oct. 10.—A wireless message from Nantucket lightship at 11:30 today states that the steamer Lustiana, at that time eighty or a hundred miles eastward, would probably turn the lightship 132 miles from Sandy Hook between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. This feat will break the world's record.

CAVALRYMEN WILL BE ENTERTAINED AT DANCE

They Will Be Entertained At Columbo Hall By Citizens.

Friday night at Colombo hall the members of the two troops of United States cavalry from Fort Wingate will be the guests of honor at a dance to be given by the people of Albuquerque. The preparations for the social evening are about completed and in addition to the dance program there will be a light luncheon, served at an appropriate hour.

All members of the two troops will attend in uniform and a number of Albuquerque men and women will be present as hosts and hostesses. The hall will be gaily decorated for the occasion and there will be an abundance of amusement for the soldiers who have furnished so great a share of the enjoyment for the crowds at the fair grounds this week.

The love of the soldiers for dancing is proverbial and with the accompaniment of the excellent music which will be a feature of Friday night's program there will be nothing further to be desired.

FIREMEN DO SOME SPEEDY RACING

In the tournament of the New Mexico Firemen's association, the following excellent results are shown in today's races:

100-yard foot race: Alarid, Santa Fe, first; DeBlasse, American Lumber company, second. Time, 19 3-5 seconds.

Single coupling: Mason, American Lumber company, first; Brittan, Santa Fe, second.

Dry test hose race: Santa Fe, first, 32 1-2 seconds; American Lumber company, second, 35 seconds.

SUSPECTED OF BEING "BAD CHECK ARTIST"

Will Albright, the one-legged man who was arrested Monday for hiring a rig from the Patterson livery stable and then not paying for it and who is now in jail, is suspected of being a "check artist." He passed several checks here a few days ago and this morning Chief of Police McMahon received word from one bank at Cheyenne Wells, Colo., on which the paper was drawn, that the man had no account there. The police are now investigating to see if any checks were passed here by Albright.

ELKS WILL ENTERTAIN THEIR VISITING MEMBERS

Lodge Rooms Will be Thrown Open to Guests This Evening.

Albuquerque Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will entertain tonight and the best people on earth will see that all the visiting Elks and their friends are cordially welcomed to Elks' hall and given a royal evening. The city is filled with visiting members of that order and there is opportunity for the local lodge to show its hospitality, a thing it never fails to do when the chance is as plain as in this instance.

The lodge has made preparations for a most enjoyable evening, and the program will include dancing and other social amusements, concluding with a light luncheon. The lodge rooms and entire hall will be at the service of the visitors and nothing will be left undone to make them feel at home.

An invitation is extended to all visiting Elks to take advantage of this entertainment.

RED MEN ENJOYED BANQUET LAST NIGHT

The delegates to the Red Men's grand pow wow were entertained by the local lodge last night at a supper and dance at Red Men's hall. The ladies of the Degree of Pocahontas assisted in entertaining. In fact, they provided the entertainment.

Al Mathieu acted as toastmaster and the following responses were given:

"History of the Red Men," Leon Godchaux; "Indian Work," Geo. Friedlenbloom; "What Navajo Tribe No. 3 Will Be in a Year," W. N. Magee; "Degrees of the Daughters of Pocahontas," Mrs. Denham; "Relations of the D. O. P. to the L. O. B. M.," C. L. Koppeler; "Our Duties as Red Men," F. M. Closson.

After the banquet the evening was spent in dancing and other social amusements.

Throngs See Great Game.
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 10.—As on the two previous days, throngs began to move early towards the west side ball grounds, intent upon witnessing the third game of the series for the world championship between the Chicago National and Detroit American teams. The street car systems were taxed to their utmost to accommodate the crowd. The atmosphere which was quite cold early in the day, gradually became more like the baseball variety at noon.

Albuquerque day — Traveling Men's day—Veuve Cluquot day, and Derby day, has been a small day that is today. It is the greatest in point of attendance at the fair and the best in everything. Dawning bright and clear, with warm sunshine, the day has been all that could be desired from that standpoint, and since early morning people have been pouring out to the business district and traction park to take advantage of everything that offered in the amusement line. Like the crowds of the rest of the week, they came for fun and they are having it. Though the size of the crowd, which is considerably greater than on the other days, makes it more difficult to move around, still everybody is happy and seeing everything. The carnival shows opened at 9 o'clock this morning and all day and until far into the night they have and will continue to make people enjoy themselves. The free acts, including the revolving ladder, high jump and other performances, have attracted large crowds.

Reckless Russell in his thrilling ride down the incline on a bicycle and his jump into a small pool of water has probably been the greatest of all these attractions.

The Big Parade.
The great trades display parade with its splendid features, its extraordinary beauty and the symmetry of its formation, was the most attractive of all the fair, and for hours before it started the streets were lined with people eager to see the big procession and delight in its wonders.

Traveling Men Here.
The traveling men are home today and their reunion at 10 o'clock was one of the best things on the program, for scores of the jolly fellows filled the rooms in which the headquarters are located and enjoyed everything to the utmost. They participated in everything during the day and enjoyed every minute.

The Biggest Crowds.
The fair grounds today have been filled with the biggest crowd of the week, if not the greatest in the history of the fairs in New Mexico. Everything was filled and even the ground surrounding the race track was crowded with people who watched the Veuve Cluquot $1,000 stake race, the Albuquerque derby, the racing of the fire department, the soldiers' part in the program, which consisted of tug-of-war, mounted rescue, Roman race, and other equally thrilling events.

The cavalry maneuvers, which include the famous monkey drill, are on the program for 4 o'clock, and there will be broncho busting and other equally thrilling events.

BIG FAIR PARADE BEST EVER WITNESSED IN ALBUQUERQUE

Great Throngs Crowded Streets For Blocks Along Line of March to See the Beauties of the Gorgeous Procession as it Wended Its Way Through the Down-town District This Morning—Cavalrymen, Firemen in Uniform With Their Equipment, and Many Elegantly Arranged Floats Made up the Pageant—Applause Greeted it Continually As it Passed Along.

To the spirited music from a half dozen bands, between lanes of enthusiastic and applauding people, who crowded the down town streets for many blocks along the line of march, the big industrial parade, the star down town feature of Albuquerque day of the big fair, came off this morning on schedule time.

Headed by the city officials and including a large number of prominent local and visiting citizens and some of the handsomest industrial exhibits ever seen in the history of the fair association, the big procession stretched out for twenty blocks and the crowds who had waited patiently at every vantage point along the route went home feeling well repaid.

The old standbys of former territorial fair days were nearly all in evidence among the exhibits together with some new ones of equal excellence.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the procession left the rendezvous at Fifth street and Silver avenue and headed north to Copper and thence east to First street and north again to Central avenue. The old time popularity of the parade as a feature of the big fair showed no abatement in the interest of the crowds. Every man, woman and child in Albuquerque who could be present, and the thousands of visitors who thronged the city were distributed along the line of march and for an hour the other attractions were deserted and the big procession held full sway.

The Parade.
In the first vehicle were Thos. McMillin, chief of police, and Harry P. Lee, city clerk.

Immediately following and leading the parade, was Col. John Borradale, marshal of the day.

Major B. Ruppe and Company G. of the New Mexico national guard were next in line. The guardsmen were in fatigue uniform and carried rifles.

Captain Clark M. Carr and Dr. J. B. Cutter, of the fair association committee on United States troops, came next at the head of Troops I and K of the Fifth United States Cavalry. The troopers were clad in their tattered uniforms and made a splendid showing.

A large United States ambulance followed the troops and in it were eight pretty little girls. This was the end of the first division.

Second Division.
The second division was in charge of M. L. Stern and Alfred Grunsfeld. The first feature of this division was one of the cleverest features of the parade. It was the old fire department escorted by fourteen little girls in blue, mounted. The old fire department was represented by Dad Greenleaf, W. R. Hopkins, A. Harsh and Jake Gainsley. These veteran firemen were members of the first fire department organized in Albuquerque.

The city fire department led by Chief Burless was next in line and following the city outfit was the fire department carried by "Fighting the Flames." This latter department is composed of six vehicles, including an aerial truck and two large steamers. The firemen were in debonaire attire and the engines were polished till they shone like burnished silver in the sunlight.

The Indian School.
The Albuquerque Indian school was represented by several large floats and a hundred children, musicians and cadets. First came the Indian school band of twenty-four pieces, playing excellent music. Then a large float bearing an immense American flag and many little boys and girls. There were eighty cadets in line, and the floats representing the industrial departments of the school were prize winners. The first one represented the girls' department and on it were girls doing kitchen work, working in the laundry, running sewing machines and doing other house work.

The industrial float of the boys' department of the Indian school showed the dusky lads engaged in the various trades which are taught at the school. The Indian school exhibit was one of the largest in the procession and elicited much favorable comment along the line.

Next in line came the star delegation of Navajo horsemen and foot racers from the reservation, sixteen strong, astride their wiry little ponies, and clad in their picturesque native habiliments.

Were All There.

The A. H. Jewell Co. association of old time and Sheriff Perfecto Armijo, with one hundred members in line, followed, brought up in the rear by the old town band of twenty pieces.

The C. S. Morey Mercantile Co. exhibited a handsome float, displaying conspicuously a huge baking powder can and manned by a half dozen boys who distributed samples to the crowds.

Past, Present and Future.
Following came the traveling men—the big nobly delegation of knights of the road who have been making things lively in the city for the past twenty-four hours. They were all there and helped to enliven the line with the characteristic comment. Headed by a faithful counterpart of a Pullman coach followed by an old time stage coach pulled high with decrepit grips, and escorted by a big delegation in automobiles the exhibit showed strikingly the contrast of old and modern times in the traveling man's lot.

Next came the Hubbs Laundry Co. float. Following by that of Passmore & Son, painters. Both were tastefully arranged.

O. K. Float.
The float of the C. S. Morey Mercantile company was one of the cleverest industrial floats in the parade. The feature of it was an immense can of O. K. Baking powder, the contents of which is the mystery of a lively voting contest being con-

GOVERNOR CURRY OPENS TRAVELING MEN'S MEETING

He Paid a Fine Tribute to "Knights of the Grip" in His Speech This Morning.

HOSPITALITY IS FREELY DISPENSED

Local Members of the Association Are Entertaining Visitors in Lavish Style at Their Headquarters in Zeigler Building Today.

About three hundred "knights of the grip" have gathered in Albuquerque to attend the traveling men's convention and this morning at their headquarters in the Zeigler building an enthusiastic informal meeting was held at which Governor Curry was present and made a short, witty speech. The governor was met by a special committee of traveling men at the Garardo and escorted with great acclaim to the headquarters of the traveling men. There he registered his name on the book which records the names of the visiting commercial salesmen.

Governor Curry Made Address.

In his speech the governor compared the present day knights of the grip with those of former days. He said they accomplished the same results as their progenitors, but used more modern and skilled methods. The governor paid a glowing tribute to the fraternity of traveling men in saying that he considered them as prophets of the political temper of the people. He said that by traveling about they were in a position to know the sentiment of the people and that he hoped always to retain the friendship of this class of citizens who naturally had great power to influence political views. The boys heartily applauded the speech of the governor and then en masse repaired to the Commercial club where a big group picture was taken of the delegation by Mr. Newman of the Great Western View company.

At the traveling men's headquarters liberal hospitality is imparted to all commercial salesmen. No lodge organization enjoys a truer pliancy the fraternal spirit than this gathering of men who are bound only by the ties of enthusiasm in a profession which means cheer throughout the whole country.

Many Registered.

Among those who have thus far registered at the headquarters are the following: S. J. Lewinson, with L. B. Putney company; N. A. Spence, with J. V. Farwell Co., Chicago; H. A. Blatz, of Swift and company; C. G. Wilbanks, with J. V. Farwell Co., Chicago; E. T. Phalan, of Standard Creamery Co., Early Spring Parker; W. M. Hayward, of N. K. Fairbanks Co.; Albert Soell, of Southwestern Brewery; W. E. Betts, of Armco Co.; E. Jellinek, James Grunsfeld, Albuquerque; Jack Seales, Albuquerque; P. L. E. Gerald, Albuquerque; Jas. F. Lohr, Albuquerque; J. L. Orear, Albuquerque; J. D. Eakin, Albuquerque; Louis Rosenback, Albuquerque; F. E. Bingham, P. E. Southwick, Colorado Springs; J. G. Sutherland, Albuquerque; C. W. Gramm, Albuquerque; W. R. Brown, El Paso; W. J. McGuire, Denver; Geo. B. Ryan, Chicago; Leo Gale, El Paso; Louis Cohen, San Francisco; O. Rucliar, St. Joseph; H. F. Rora, Denver; G. H. Van Stone, Estancia.

In the Parade.

The traveling men participated in the parade with one of the most unusual and attractive features of that big pageant today, and they are taking the city by storm.

When they escorted the governor to the headquarters this morning they cheered lustily as they marched through the streets and cries of "What's the matter with Curry? He's all right," were much in evidence. They are a big crowd and are having plenty of fun.

ducted by the company and for which is offered some valuable prizes. The can was filled with O. K. Baking Powder and the contest is to guess how much it weighed. There are four prizes offered for the nearest guesser.

The Boys' Band.
The Leonard & Lindemann band covered itself with glory, and the rendition of its selections along the line of march established its reputation as a musical organization second to none, and but for the youthful appearance of the members the term juvenile hardly applies longer to the band.

University Exhibit.
One of the most pretentious exhibits was that of the university. The rah rah boys from the hill have been working night and day for a week to complete the floats and the result of their work was well received by the crowds. A bevy of the university's fairest co-eds occupied the first float, a veritable "sweet bunch of daisies." Following came a huge float representing the boys dormitory in real life. A dozen undergraduates occupying the proverbial unkempt student's rooms, with mural decorations such as only a dorn student can conceive added to the gaiety of the procession. This exhibit was completed by the football team and the inevitable robe student.

Lumber Company Exhibit.
The American Lumber Co. exhibit which came next showed the amount of expense and labor to which the big lumber company has gone in preparing for the parade. A huge log-
